Manufactured en France

Founded by Thomas Giorgetti and Christophe Lépine in late 2008, young Parisian brand Bleu de Paname has rapidly taken its place as one of the most exciting new streetwear brands to emerge from Europe in recent years.

Their combination of workwear inspired garments and artisanal production techniques has crafted an extremely strong identity for the brand.

In the shop we have a great selection of the fall/winter collection.

The range includes a modern version of the classic worker pant, the winter version of the 'veste comptoir', the lightly padded gilet and the best workwear shirts.

Issue # 5

*A Curation of Ideas in Product, Craft & Culture.
Features on some of the most inspiring and talented people in the industry, as well as editorials, reviews and original photography.*

Vikings & Valkyries

Minimarket has been one of our favorite women's labels in the shop since 2008.

Some of you will be happy to know that the Wedge Zipper boot has returned in an updated version with a chunkier zip at the back.

€ 299,-

Another great addition is the Njord shoe which is made of 100% cow leather and has pile lining.

The heavy rubber, rugged sole will make it easy for you during the winter season.

NALDEN

MOBILE SNAPSHOTS

Blend of web + log

Nalden is all about a lifestyle for digital natives. His blog attracts 600.000 visitors a month who all want to know the latest from the design-, fashion-, art-, music-, gadgets- and technology-scene.

Some people think this is about trends, but it is more about curated observations. His book 'Mobile Snapshots - From blogger to brand' tells the story of his life in just that - snapshots taken with his mobile.

Waxed canvas

A new season is soon to be knocking at our doors. Deep and dark colors will caress our sight. Along with autumns dye, QWSTION is launching the new and down to earth Darkbrown Edition: Tote, Weekender and Backpack are awaiting you in timeless looking waxed canvas and tough black YKK-zippers.

Men's women's wear

Nick Wakeman is the brain behind Studio Nicholson. "I have always coveted men's tailoring," says Nick, "in fact men's wear in general.

I wear a lot of men's shirts and jackets and if I could fit men's suits and trousers they would feature in my wardrobe too. The detailing in men's wear is so much more considered, from the simplicity of the fabric being allowed to do the talking to the taping on internals. As a rule I have a much stronger emotional response to men's wear than women's wear." Nick has applied these same men's wear design ethics to the Studio Nicholson collection.

We're proud to have Studio Nicholson exclusive to 290 in the Benelux.
